The Joy of Discovery

One of the greatest joys of a road trip is the element of surprise. As you drive through off-the-beaten-path routes, you'll come across unique attractions, breathtaking landscapes, and unforgettable encounters. From stumbling upon a charming roadside diner that serves the best pie in the state to discovering a secluded beach with crystal-clear waters, these moments of unexpected discovery make the journey all the more memorable.

Not only do road trips allow you to explore new places, but they also provide opportunities for personal growth and self-reflection. Spending long hours behind the wheel gives you the chance to think, dream, and reflect on life. It's the perfect time to gain a new perspective, make important decisions, or simply enjoy the tranquility of solitude.

Planning the Perfect Road Trip

To make the most of your road trip adventure, proper planning is key. Start by deciding on the duration of your trip and determining your destination(s). Consider factors such as the time of year, weather conditions, and any specific attractions or landmarks you'd like to visit along the way.

Packing essentials is also crucial. Make sure to bring comfortable clothing suitable for different weather conditions, as well as toiletries, a first aid kit, and any necessary documents. Don't forget to pack entertainment options such as books, games, or your favorite road trip playlist to keep you entertained throughout the journey.

When it comes to accommodation, you have a variety of options. From camping under the stars to staying in cozy motels or splurging on luxury hotels, choose what suits your preferences and budget. Just remember, the journey itself is the highlight, so be open to camping adventures or spontaneous nights spent in your car.

Stay Safe and Enjoy the Ride

While the spirit of adventure is what makes road trips so appealing, it's important to prioritize safety. Before hitting the road, ensure that your car is in good condition by checking the tires, brakes, fluids, and other essential components. Pack an emergency kit with supplies like a spare tire, jumper cables, flashlight, and a map for unexpected situations.

Stay updated on traffic conditions and weather forecasts to avoid any surprises. Long drives can be tiring, so take regular breaks to stretch your legs, hydrate, and refuel both yourself and your vehicle. Remember to observe traffic rules and be courteous to fellow travelers on the road.

The Road Trip of a Lifetime

So, why wait? Embark on a road trip on the road again and create memories that will last a lifetime. Whether you choose to explore the breathtaking landscapes of the American West, the charming countryside of Europe, or the stunning coastlines of Australia, the possibilities are endless.

Remember, a road trip is not just about the destination; it's about the journey itself. Embrace the freedom, discover hidden treasures, and let the open road take you on an adventure like no other. Pack your bags, turn up the music, and get ready to explore the world on the road again!

Have you ever had the opportunity of traveling the country, from sea to shining sea? Have you ever been able to spend a week or more wandering the highways of this amazingly diverse country of ours?

After dedicating the past 5 decades to everything from retail sales to public education, we actually found two months to dedicate to doing just that.

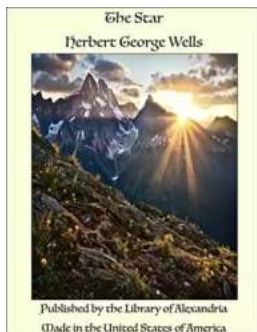

The first of those month-long treks served as the inspiration for the first half of this book, the award-winning, “Road Trip.” We made long overdue visits to family, met up with old friends, and made some new ones. It was a wonderful adventure.

Later that same year we expanded our travels with another month-long, cross-country trek to Washington State, traveling the northern Interstate route from New York to Seattle with countless stops in between. Spending time to investigate many locales, from small towns to big cities, we enjoyed restaurants recommended by the locals, along with a few familiar "name" eateries in new surroundings.

We experienced a purple mountain's majesty above the fruited plain, a palace made of corn, stone countenances on a mountainside, the joy of an open rest stop, and compass roses blooming in the very streets.

Come along with us and hear the roar of the Pacific, and then of course, return to a place like no other: Home.
