Legend has it that the plantation earned its name from the mysterious "21 Pages" discovered within its hidden chambers. These pages, said to be written by a tormented soul trapped within the walls of the plantation, unveil a gruesome past filled with violence, betrayal, and evil forces beyond imagination.

The Spirits That Roam in the Shadows

As twilight descends upon the plantation, the spirits awaken, eager to share their tales with anyone daring enough to listen. Many visitors have reported encounters with ghostly apparitions, inexplicable sounds, and even being touched by unseen hands. Are these spirits trying to communicate or warning intruders about the evil that resides within?

The most famous ghostly resident is the Lady in White, a forlorn figure often seen wandering the grounds, her mournful cries filling the night air. Believed to be the spirit of a young woman who met a tragic end at the hands of her jealous husband, her presence is a constant reminder of the darkness that once consumed the plantation.

The Dark Curse That Binds

According to the 21 Pages, an ominous curse was cast upon the plantation by a vengeful witch, forever entwining its fate with darkness. Those who dare to explore the corridors and hidden passages are said to experience a series of misfortunes, from inexplicable accidents to strange illnesses.

Many skeptics have scoffed at the idea of a curse, dismissing it as mere superstition. However, those who have witnessed its effects firsthand cannot deny the unexplainable events that seem to defy logical explanation.
